Zadatak

Potrebno je da dokument pocetna.html sredite primenom css-a tako da dobije konačan izgled stranice dat u fajlu index.html. Koristiti eksterni css fajl pod nazivom stil.css.

bout BAWSI

Pocetna.html

WOMEN ATHLETES

DIFFERENCE The Bay Area Women's Sports Institutive (BAWSI) is a public benefit, nonprofit corporation with a mission to create programs and partnerships through which women athletes bring amounty. Founded in 2005 by Olympic and World Cup soccer stars Brandi Chastain and Julie Foudy and Marlene Bjornarud, former general manager of the San Jose CyberRays women's professional soccer team, BAWSI lettes to become a more visible and valued part of the Bay Area sports culture.

WSI's History

s concept of BAWSI was inspired by one of the most spectacular achievements in women's sports history and born out of one its biggest disappointments.

the summer of 1999, the U.S. Women's National Soccer Team defeated China to win the Women's World Cup in the Rose Bowl, the climax of a three-week, 16-team to ne sommer of 1999, the C.S. Accuses a vancous socces from overagenous claims to wan new votations of the properties of the contraction of the cont inge for a better world.

he summer of 1999, the U.S. Women's National Soccer Team defeated China to win the Women's World Cup in the Rose Bowl, the climax of a three-week, 16-team tournament that remains history's most successful wom 1,000 spectators. It also represented the most visible achievement of the women's sports movement in the United States since the 1972 enactment of federal Title IX, which required schools and colleges to provide equal spmen. Athletes like Brands Chastain and Julie Foody, who led that team to the World Cup, spawned the Women's United Soccer Association in 2001, the world's first women's professional soccer league. But in 2003, after of Iteam organizations created by some of the most accomplished athletes and administrators in women's sports were disbanded. The Bay Area Women's Sports Initiative - BAWSI - arose from the remnants of that effort, cre the zenith of a short-lived golden age of women's sports but rather another step toward women's full achievement in the sports world. BAWSI's programs began with a critical look at the unmet needs in our community and age for a better world.

swright © 2005-2017 BAWSI (www.bawsi.org). All rights reserved. Used with permission

Rešenje

The Bay Area Women's Sports Initiative (BAWSI) is a public benefit, nonprofit corporation with a mission to create programs and partnerships through which women athletes bring health, hope and wholeness to our community. Founded in 2005 by Olympic and World Cup soccer stars Brandi Chastain and Julie Foudy and Marlene Bjornsrud, former general manager of the San Jose CyberRays women's professional soccer team, BAWSI provides a meaningful path for women athletes to become a more visible and valued part of the Bay Area sports culture.

The concept of BAWSI was inspired by one of the most spectacular achievements in women's sports history and born out of one its biggest

In the summer of 1999, the U.S. Women's National Soccer Team defeated China to win the Women's World Cup in the Rose Bowl, the climax of a three In the summer of 1999, the U.S. Women's National Soccer Team defeated China to win the Women's World Cup in the Rose Bowl, the climax of a three-week, 16-team tournament that remains history's most successful women's sports event, drawing more than 600,000 spectators. It also represented the most visible achievement of the women's sports movement in the United States since the 1972 enactment of federal Title IX, which required schools and colleges to provide equal sports opportunvibeities to girls and women. Athletes like Brandi Chastain and Julie Foudy, who led that team to the World Cup, spawmed the Women's United Soccer Association in 2001, the world's first women's professional soccer league. But in 2003, after only three seasons, the league folded, and team organizations created by some of the most accomplished athletes and administrators in women's sports were disbanded. The Bay Area Women's Sports Initiative - BaWSI - arose from the remnants of that effort, created to ensure that the WUSA would not be the zenith of a short-lived golden age of women's sports but rather another step toward women's full achievement in the sports world. BaWSI's programs began with a critical look at the unmen endes in our cand took shape after imagining a profound change for a better world.

In the summer of 1999, the U.S. Women's National Soccer Team defeated China to win the Women's World Cup in the Rose Bowl, the climax of a three-week, 16-team tournament that representations. It also represented the most visible achievement of the women's sports movement in the lighted in the light of the women's sports movement in the lighted in the light of the women's sports movement in the lighted in the light of the women's sports movement in the light of the light of the women's sports movement in the light of the light of the women's sports movement in the light of the women's light of the women's sports movement in the light of the light of history's most successful women's sports event, drawing more than 600,000 spectators. It also represented the most visible achievement of the women's sports movement in the United States nistory's most successful women's sports event, drawing more than 000,000 spectators. It also represented the most visible achievement of the women's sports movement in the United States since the 1972 enactment of federal Title IT, which required schools and colleges to provide equips sports opportunivibelities to girls and women. Athletes like Brandi Chastain and Juliel Foudy, who led that team to the World Cup, spawned the Women's United Soccer Association in 2001, the world's first women's professional soccer league. But in 2003, after only three seasons, the league folded, and team organizations created by some of the most accomplished athletes and administrators in women's sports were disbanded. The Bay Area Women's Sports Initiative - BAWS1 - arose from the remnants of that effort, created to ensure that the WUSA would not be the zenith of a short-lived golden age of women's sports but rather another step toward women's full achievement in the sports world. BAWS1's programs began with a critical look at the unmet needs in our community and took shape after imagining a profound change for a better world.

1. Uklanjanje svih margina i proreda koje unose blok elementi:

* { padding:0; margin: 0; }

2. Kreiramo stil sadržaja:

```
body {
font: 10pt Verdana, Geneva, Arial, Helvetica, sans-serif;
line-height: 14pt;
padding: 15pt;}
```

3. Kreiramo stil naslova i podnaslova:

```
h1 {
font: 14pt Verdana, Geneva, Arial, Helvetica, sans-serif bold;
line-height: 30pt;
color:darkorange; }
p.subheader {
font-weight: bold;
color: blueviolet;
line-height:25pt; }
```

4. Kreiramo svojstva slike – float right, slika je desno od teksta, a on fluktuira oko nje.

```
img {
padding: 3pt;
float: right;
}
```

```
5. Podešavanje futera:
footer {
font: 9pt italic;
line-height: 12pt;
text-align: center;
color:gray;
padding:5pt;
margin:15pt;
border-top:1px solid gray; }
```